OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL,
Memphis, February 2, 1868.

The market has been quiet, but no easier than yesterday, but, on the contrary, the amount of exchange which could not be taken was larger and counter demand rather lighter. The market in cotton has farmed up, discount houses to the amount of their ability for two or three days back. The currency market will no doubt be easier on Monday. Buying rates are unchanged and firm. Balances are very low, as a general thing.

Gold opened in New York at $1010, and at noon had advanced $1. The offerings are smaller, but more active, and the market is being bought for round lots, selling in a small way at 50 to 52.

POLICE WARRANTS were issued in demand, both from debtors and visitors to the market. Buying at $1 to $2 less. Gold at $1010. Cotton at $102 to $103. Selling. Brokers are not buying.

The New York market was quiet but steady all day, and closed with a moderate demand and prices nominally unchanged. Sales for the week, $30,000 bushels. Receipts for the same period, 16,000 bushels. The Liverpool market was quiet at the opening—Upwards, 74; Oceans, 74; Indians, 74; estimated sales for the day, 10,000 bushels. There was but one dispatch received from that market up to the present hour. The market has improved but little on yesterday, and holders were firm in their views. The day's sales were light, and made upon the quotations of the day before, at least three-quarters of the time. The market has not justly changed to our figures. The market is like that of New York, from the opening to the close, quiet but steady.
